- Washington June 17: The farm loan board today announcing a forthcoming issue of $54,000,000 in 4 1-2 per bonds of the federal land banks. The present issue will be sold at 100 1-2 direct to investors by the 12 federal land banks and by a nation wide group of investment banking houses. The last general offering of these bonds a year ago was absorbed quickly and the securities went to a considerable premium. The forthcoming issue anticipates the needs of the land banks for some months and no further offering is expected before December. The new bonds, which will be virtually tax exempt, will be issued in de-nominations as low as $25 to make them attractive to small investors. will be payable in five years and due in 20 years. Up to May 31, the federal land banks had issued $207,-500,000 in bonds.

- While the Villa rebels were attack ing the Carranza garrison of Juarez last Sunday—after the fighting had been going on for about two daysforce of Americans crossed the border without asking leave of anybody, and put the Villistas to flight. The order to the Americans was to kill all rebels who refused to surrender. The Americans made things very warm until the Villistas cleared out from Juarez, and then they returned to their own side of the line, bringing with them seven prisoners and about a hundred horses. It is known that a large number of Villistas were killed by American machine gun and artillery fire. One American, Corporal Chicas, of the 7th cavalry, was shot through the lungs by a Mexican rebel. The action of the Americans cause some surprise in the United States. It is not known whether the interference was with the consent of the Carranza government or

- The peace terms presented to Germany are the final reply of the Allies Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman in the House of Commons declared in opening the Victory Loan campaign at the Guildhall. The speaker said he hoped earnestly the Germans would sign the terms. "It is for them to choose within five days," Mr. Bonar Law added. "They must sign or the armistice is at an end. There must be a just peace, but a peace must be a stern peace." The speaker said that the chief of the British Staff had declared twenty-three different wars were now going on, and added: "It is not all over. It is quite possible by want of wisdom, by absence of restraint, by disunion among the Allies, want of unity at home to lose and by want of unity at home to lose not the victory, but the full force of the victory which has been bough

- Rumors of new outrage by radicals to be attempted Independence Day have reached the department of justice, which is taking all needed precautions to forestall the plotters. Officials are very noncommittal regarding their discoveries, but it was evident that noth-ing was being left undone to make the attempt a flasco. Working in coopera-tion with the police of cities through-out the country, scores of radicals are observation and a number have been taken into custody to be held until they can be brought to trial or started back to the country from which they came through institution of deportation proceedings. Attorney General Palmer is giving much of his time to the investigation of the plots, one of which so nearly cost him and his family their lives recently. He was in conference today with Francisco P. Garvan, his assistant in charge of criminal investigations. Will J. Flynn, head of the bureau of investigation, will arrive here tomorrow for conference with Mr. Palmer, Mr. Garvan and Francis Creighton, Mr. Garvan's special assistant.

-Praise for peanuts was voiced in the senate for a half hour last Wednes-day. Edible and other properties of the nut are extolled in bi-partisan approvel on an amendment, by Sergeant Swanson, democrat, of Virginia, to the agricultural appropriation bill propos-ing $12,000 for collection and distribution by the department of agriculture of market information on peanut con-ditions. The peanut proposal finally was adopted without a word of opposition. In supporting the amendment Senator Swanson said $200,000,000 was invested in the peanut industry which was important in eight states. Sena tor LaFollette, republican, of Wis-consin. said he wished to "speak a word for the peanut" and gave a testi-monial regarding their value, declaring he once had gained 40 pounds on a nut Peanuts. Senator Simmons, democrat, of North Carolina, told the senate, are valuable food for humans and hogs, being used to fatten the latter, Georgia, declared they are the most important antidote against the cotton boll weevil, if planted in rotation with cotton crops.

- Nothing official has yet become known as to what action the German government will take regarding the peace treaty. At Weimar the document is being carefully studied by the national assembly's peace commission. Unofficial reports are that there is great dissatisfaction on the part of the German cabinet members and high German officials over what are considered extremely hard terms. said a large majority of the cabinet members are opposed to signing the treaty, but are fearful of a reign of bolshevism and consequent chaos in the country should they decline. German newspapers take a dark view of the outcome, whether Germany signs or not. The newspapers which oppose signing let their pessimism run to the extent of expecting a resumption of hostilities by the Allies Monday if the armistice is permitted automatically to end. While there is nowhere any indication that if circumstances compel the Allied troops to advance further into Germany there necessarily will be fighting, the American, British and and French troops will be prepared for any eventuality. If a further invasion beomes necessary the troops will march into Germany in battle formation.

-A separate and immediate inquiry disposition of surplus food stocks by the war department was in-dicated last Tuesday by developments in both house and senate committees. W. Hare, director of sales in the departments demobilization organication, was questioned at length by the senate military committee in this connection during hearings on the army appropriation bill and later a resolution calling on Secretary Baker for detailed reports as to quantities of food-stuffs held in storage was introduced in the house by Representative Treadway, Republican (Massachusetts.) In the meantime the house special com-mittee to investigate war department expenditures met and appointed five subcommittees each of which will handle a separate part of the supply and material expenditures. No date for beginning the hearings was set, however, and there was some indicathat the food question might be reviewed aside from these five in-quiries. The Treadway resolution quiries. The Treadway resolution seeks information, not only as to food stocks on hand, but also as to offers received for the surplus and details as to contracts under which these stocks were acquired. Director Hare dealt with some of these matters before the senate committee. His statement that the food administration had refused to war department surplus purchase war department surplus stocks of bacon, but later had bought similar supplies consigned to the Ital ian government, drew the attention of committee members and Mr. Hare give details of the transact ions later. He told of an agreement with the national canners' association under which a huge store of canned vegetables owned by the government is to be marketed. Director Hare esti-mated the value of the war materials in this county owned by the govern-ment at $2,000,000,000 dollars but did not know the proportion regarded as surplus. Chairman Wadsworth of th senate military committee announce tonight that hearings on the army bill would close tomorrow and that the committee to have the bill ready to report to the senate late this week.

FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1919.

The Newberry Observer calls atter tion to the fact that the acts of the legislature, just out, forbid the killing of rats between certain dates, under penalty of fine and imprisonment. It is an error, of course, explains the Observer, but it is in the law, as printed, all the same. The law probably was intended to prohibit the killing of muskrats.

Hon. John L. McLaurin writes in private letter from Minot, North Dako ta, that he is in the hottest political fight that he has ever had anything to do with. The issue is a state bank law passed at the last session of the North Dakota legislature, and now before the people on a referendum to be decided on June 26. In brief the law is the same as that which Mr. McLaurin advocated so strongly throughout South Carolina. It proposes that the state take over a large part of the banking business, especially that part of it which relates to farm loans under system that contemplates that the payment of 7 per cent interest on a debt for thirty years will pay the debt. For Mcttie Burris, McConnellsville, (colinstance 7 per cent a year on $5,000 ored). every year for thirty years will furnish a reasonable interest charge, and along with it sufficient sinking fund to cancel the principal. The opponents of the now law, it appears from the North Dakota papers, are trying to get the attorney general to meet Mr. McLau rin on the stump; but so far the attor ney general has not signified his willingness to accept. Mr. McLaurin pre dicts that the people of North Dakota are going to sustain the banking law by a majority of about two-thirds.

Europe has been a land of special privilege, where has been defied the spirit that impelled the strong to laud meeting that was called at the courtt over the weak, where the strong esweakness which recognized any responsibility of the strong to the weak.

The best possible definition of Bolshevism as it is understood and its Russian exponents are seeking to establish it at the present time, is the retention of the age-old spirit and practice without change except as to the identity of the oppressor and oppress ed-the policy of the bottom rail on top. for application to the back of the auocratic nobility. That is all there is to it. About i there is a kind of poetic justice; but nothing to be commended. It is appli cation of the old Jewish law of eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth-not the law of God, but the old Jewish law-a law that was never sound and a while Senator Smith, democrat, of no wise better than the law of the blood feud, and that it could bring peace, prosperity, contentment or happiness is impossible. England has been a land of privilege also; but in England there has always been a spirit of democracy-a spirit that has feared absolutely rothing upon earth than to uphold wrong. Don't let it be understood that England has never been wrong, or that she is not doing wrong in many things now. But the Englishman has always showed a tendency and incination to do right There have always been people in England who would fight for the right, and the upholders of the right have always prevailed sooner or later.

More victories for democracy hav been won on the soil of England than on the soil of any other country or earth, and the fight goes on and on. It was the best and highest ideals of people, but was unable to find any of them. England which, taking root in the soil of America, in spite of foes from with in and foes from without, have held their own till now. To be sure no reasonably well in formed student of the American idea would think of claiming anything approaching satisfactory development. Any one can see that socio-economic conditions are far from perfect. Any one can see the unequal division of the fruits of labor, in telligence and capital Any one can see lingering, even developing signs of the cloven hoof of privilege; but still there exists equality of opportunity and equality of enjoyment to a larger extent than in any other country on earth. There is the spirit of exclusive privi lege here and there is the spirit of Bolshevism here. There is the spirit o selfish disregard of the rights of others here, and there is the spirit of revengeful hate here. But the dominant spirit of America is the fair deal for everybody, and eventually that dominant spirit will prevail throughout ev ery nook and corner of the land. Bolshevism will never prevail in America, even temporarils.

There will be no universal church or departure from the tenets that have always been taught by sound expounders of Christianity, he declar-ed. The main change in the church usage of the past will be general recogition of the duty and wisdom of giv ing proper attention to the instruction of children. He cited the great exam ole that has been furnished by the Jews, who by taking up the proper training of their children from earlies infancy have firmly planted the great principles of their religion in their race throughout all time. He cited the various reforms that have been develtimes beginning with Constantine and coming on down to the time of Calvin bate rather than preserve in its purity the spotless soul of the child as it came from God. His conclusion was that the task of the church after the war cradle and rear them up along the path which Christ has made for them. and which God would have them to follow. is to take hold of the children in the All the time not taken up by the regular programme in the convention hall, is being filled in with rounds of Fort Mill June 17: At a call meeting of town council last night the matter of the prevalence of drunkennes and the illicit sale of alcoholic beverages was very exhaustively discussed and ways and means of coping with the situation considered. It is believed stills are being operated that illicit near Fort Mill and that the bi-weekly quart law of the adjoining state of North Carolina is being used to secure quantities of whiskey for sale in this territory. No Hope for Beer and Wine .- Certain defeat for efforts to have conemption proposal. By that margin, the senate tabled motion by Senator Phelan, Democrat, agricultural appropriation bill for ap-plication of the war-time prohibition law to distilled spirits alone timent of the senate thus expressed in the first test vote of this congress was taken generally to sound the death knell for measures designed to permit use of beer and wines under the war-time legislation.

A new tact was taken in the house by advocates of suspension of the wartime prohibition law's provisions in so far as they affect beer and wines. The house judiciary committee received and agreed to vote next Saturday on an amendment, by Representative Gard, Democrat, of Ohio, to prohibi-tion legislation which would authorize the president to suspend the war-time the amendment by the committee gen erally was predicted. The committee also decided to recommend enforce ment of prohibition by the internal revenue commissioner, and not by a special prohibition commissioner.

Disposition by the senate of the Phelan proposal came after little discussion, except by Mr. Phelan, and nonby advocates of prohibition. The Cali fornia senator urged that the senate' rules against legislative riders on appropriation bills be set aside to make his rider in order. As such motion required two-thirds majority, Senator Gronna, Republican, of North Dakota declared that interminable debate would be entailed and moved to table Senator Phelan's motion, shutting of further discussion.

Baptists Will Raise Big Sum.-South Carolina Baptists are already at work on plans to raise their share of the $75,000,000 fund proposed to be collected from Southern Baptists for the church extension fund. The state's quota will probably be over $5,500,000 and will be apportioned in the pro rata share among the over 1,100 Baptist churches n the state. While no actual soliciting will be done until late in the year much preparatory work must be completed before the campaign begins The raising of this large fund is due to the foresight of leading men of the south who put the proposed compaign before the Southern Baptist convention at its meeting in May. This drive for $75,000,000 was formally decided upon after the Me thodists had been successful in their $35,000,000 campaign for reconstruction and extension work.

Some of the causes to be contributed to with the great fund are state misions, home missions, Sunday school ork and all its departments, the edu cation board, colleges and academie ninisters board and the board of min isterial education. With these and other agencies of the faith to be helped South Carolina workers believe the task will be accomplished.

Gline waived his preliminary and will be tried at the November term of federal court in this The strikers here have cut telephone and telegraph wires, and have in other ways interfered with the de-livery and transmission of messages, according to statements made by company officials, on which charges the varrants for the arrests of the two men

- Allendale, June 17: Allendale coun ty convened its first county court at noon today with Judge H. F. Rice presiding and R. L. Gunter as solicitor. Among the cases called at this session will be that of W. Green Wil-liams, charged with killing J. C. Harley in a grocery store in Allendale about three weeks ago; also that of tohn Dunbar, George Kirkland and E. C. Lewis, indicted in connection with the killing of H. D. Marley. Marley was his home, about 15 miles from Alendale, on the river, after he had shot o death James W. Hogg, a prominent ormer of the Allendale section. It is thought, however, that the latter case will be continued. The Williams case, also the case of J. Inabinette, a negro. harged with murder, will be heard Wednesday.

We told some of our customers that we would have no more Nitrate of Soda this season. We have had so many calls for Soda that we have bought ten tons more. We expect to receive this Soda the early part of next week. Several parties asked us to write them if we succeeded in getting the Soda. We will notify all parties through The Enquirer when the Soda arrives as we presume that almost ev-ery farmer takes The Enquirer. Be sure to read our ad. At the present price of corn and cotton it will pay to use Soda. It is the cheapest form of ammonia you can buy.
